Course leaders comments

I don't consider this a good way of evaluating the course. Non of the students wanted to be course representative and I can't force anybody. And since it is also very hard to get many students to reply to this evaluation and some of the questions are poor, I have instead used a meeting with the students after the course where we discuss the course. This is possible since the course have very few students and we have a good relation.

Next year the course will be remade to some extent and also moved to later in the spring which will make it posible for more students to attend. So a new way of evaluation my be needed.
