Course leaders comments

The course is based on individual projects, hence there are no lectures in this course. The student finds a subject which they are particularly interested in and the course organizer helps in finding a research group dealing with that subject and a potential supervisor. Given that few students attend the course each teaching period, it is rare that the course evaluation is filled in. It is difficult to assign a "student representative" for this course since all students have different supervisors and hence very individual experiences regarding the course itself.
