Course leaders comments

This course was campus based, but the students had the possibility to connect via Zoom. It was sufficient, but hybrid isn't an ideal solution.

The alignment between lectures, literature and assignments can be improved. It is basically a methods course, so there should be good literature to replace the vast amount of articles and reports in the literature list.

All courses should include sustainability, gender and equality aspects. It is not included in the course objectives, but some improvements can be made. The course could benefit from a guest lecturer on intersectionality.

The course should have more room for non-European perspectives.
