Course leaders comments

The course leadership has duly taken note of the course evaluation, comments indicated there, as well as feedback throughout the course and during the discussion with the student representative. Despite a full-time workload, students generally assess the course and its components very well, a continuation of the past trend. Students appreciate the topics covered, applied and collaborative nature of seminar assignments and note an interest in even more exercises, something that course instructors share. We will continue to keep the course material updated with the latest developments, deepen some topics of investigation and revise instructions for the term papers to ensure scope alignment.
